The high school and middle school students will be running the show, including but not limited to: selling tickets, advertising, greeting, serving dinner, busing tables, performing, and clean up. All of the funds raised from the ticket sales and silent auction directly benefit students in the band program. This is largely how we are able to support band students in need, replace equipment, provide professional attire for high school student performances, pay for music festivals and clinic opportunities, and much more.
